Final Report

Foreword - from FIS President

Like the families it is communicating to, World Snow Day itself is one large family.

Following the 4th edition of World Snow Day we saw the decline in snow sports stabilize. Despite the stabilization, we advised that this is not the time to sit back but instead make a push to truly reverse the decline. In 2016, Organisers came together as a family and made that push. The result was another year with over 600 events.

But how was this possible? Well like any family, we have an open lines of communication between FIS, the National Ski Associations the Event Organisers and most importantly participants. This has formed a bond of trust which we will aim to strengthen in the years to come.

Like family homes, FIS is always happy to welcome guests. In the case of World Snow Day the guests take the form of Partners. For the 5th Edition of World Snow Day, Audi, Eurosport, the European Broadcasting Union, Infront Sports & Media, The World Federation of the Sporting Goods industry (WFSGI), The European Federation of the Sporting Goods Industry (FESI), Best of the Alps and the Preferred Suppliers have made an outstanding contribution to this event. I would like to take a moment to thank them for their motivation and eagerness to bring children to the snow and look forward to future cooperation's with them.

Looking ahead the World Snow Day family is set to grow. Given the importance of communication, FIS will maintain its focus in this area for the 2017 edition of World Snow Day. Local Organisers will continue to have access to various support features such as the Digital Toolkit to help with their communication. Of course, other areas of support such as event ideas, the Manufacturer Kids Demos, onsite materials, event planning guides and international communication will also be provided.

World Snow Day and the overall Bring Children to the Snow Campaign has achieved more than we could have expected. With the hard work and dedication of the event Organisers, this project can continue to exceed expectations. I encourage everyone to join the family and enjoy World Snow Day.

Acknowledgements

The FIS World Snow Day 2016 Final Report would not have been possible without the support of the Event Organisers and the contributions of hundreds of participants whose feedback has been invaluable. Thanks are also due to the FIS Member National Ski Associations and all partners and sponsors for their continued support.

Thumbs up for World Snow Day at Ice Mountain (BEL).

No snow? no problem for World Snow Day in Johannesburg (RSA).

Executive Summary

The 5th edition of World Snow Day took place on 17th January 2016 with just over 586'000 participants exploring, enjoying and experiencing snow at 625 events in 42 countries. Children and families enjoyed free or discounted ski and snowboard lessons, lift passes, ski equipment, as well as concerts, races, gifts and prizes, to name just a few of the hundreds of activities. Events took place in cities, on high mountain peaks and everywhere in between. Event Organisers included ski and snowboard resorts, National Ski Associations, private event companies, ski and snowboard clubs, ski and snowboard schools, manufacturers and retailers. The majority of World Snow Day Organisers and participants have expressed a very strong interest in participating in the 6th edition of World Snow Day, which will take place on 15th January 2017.

Introduction

Who is the International Ski Federation (FIS) ?

As the governing body of international skiing and snowboarding, FIS manages the Olympic disciplines of Alpine Skiing, Cross-Country Skiing, Ski Jumping, Nordic Combined, Freestyle Skiing and Snowboarding, including setting the international competition rules. Through its 123 member nations, more than 7'000 FIS ski and snowboard competitions are staged annually. Specific initiatives are undertaken by FIS to promote snow activities as a healthy leisure recreation, notably for the young.

What is Bring Children to the Snow ?

The 'Bring Children to the Snow' campaign was launched in 2007 as an international, multi-year campaign to promote snow activities as the number one leisure choice for kids and the youth in winter. The campaign aims to encourage newcomers to the snow whilst adding additional value to those who already participate in the sport.

The campaign seeks to achieve this vision through two primary programmes, the FIS SnowKidz and FIS World Snow Day. The primary target group for the campaign is children between the ages of 4-14 and their families. Whilst targeting children and their families, FIS also hopes to motivate more teenagers and young adults. The campaign is not focused on generating competitors for any particular FIS discipline. 'Fun in the snow, fun on the snow' is the motto at the heart of the campaign.

What is World Snow Day ?

World Snow Day was launched in 2012 and looks beyond the FIS membership to the wider snow sports community. It seeks to encourage the snow industry stakeholders to be part of activities for children aged from 4-14 to celebrate all things snow. In short, World Snow Day is designed to be the biggest day on snow all year and will be staged annually for years to come.

This report summarises the key facts and figures from the 5th edition of World Snow Day which took place on 17th January 2016.

World Snow Day Goals and Analysis

Primary Goals:

Goal: Enable children and families to Explore, Enjoy and Experience snow through special events and activities organised as part of World Snow Day.

Measure: To average 500 events in 40 countries by the sixth year of operation.

Status: With 625 events in 42 countries for the 5th edition of World Snow Day, the current average stands at 488 events in 40 countries. To achieve the goal by next year World Snow Day requires 465 events across 40 countries.

Goal: Create global momentum for a great future of organising snow activities

Measure: The goal is 800,000 individual participants by the sixth year. This is a 100,000 increase annually.

Status: This year's event saw over 586'000 participants. Once again this falls short of the 100'000 increase annually. After analysis of a multitude of variables, local communications is still the number one hindrance of participation. FIS will be looking to work with Organisers to increase their local communication.

Mascots are a huge attraction at events. Soldeu Grandvalira (AND)

Secondary Goals:

Goal: Increase awareness about the need to protect and conserve the natural environment.

Measure: To have 20 events with environmental activities inside their event program.

Status: Following the 5th edition of World Snow Day 25 events contained environmental actions.

Goal: Promote the health benefits of snow sports

Measure: To establish a partnership with an external body who focus on physical health

Status: Discussions are underway with a global health body to partner with the event

Goal: Emphasise the importance of snow safety and awareness of rules of conduct.

Measure: To have 20 events with safety activities inside their event program.

Status: A total 58 events had safety activities as a part of their event program.

Promotional Activities

To communicate World Snow Day, FIS engaged in numerous international communication activities. Local level communication and promotion activities were created by National Ski Associations and Event Organisers.

World Snow Day on TV

From 1st December 2015, the fifth official World Snow Day promotional TV spot was made available in six languages (English, French, German, Italian, Spanish and Russian). Thanks to partnerships with Eurosport, EBU and Infront Sports and Media the spot was distributed globally. Broadcasters successfully integrated the spot into programming from the 20th December – 17th January 2016.

Estimated impact: 80 million

Presence at FIS World Cup Events

Building on the success of previous years, the World Snow Day brand was once again featured on the starting bibs of all competitors in FIS World Cup events during December and January. With many thanks to World Cup Organisers and National Ski Associations, the World Snow Day promotional trailer was also shown onsite at races. Additionally the World Snow Day snowball was displayed by athletes during World Cups.

Skiing To the piste!

To satisfy skiers, China is covering its arid hills with snow

Jan 24th 2015 | CHONGLI | From the print edition

Timekeeper Like 37

THE provincial outpost of Chongli, 250km (150 miles) north-west of Beijing, has all the trappings of a proper ski town. There are hotels, restaurants, shops offering the latest gear, and even a street of bars for the après-ski set. Chongli's rapidly developing resorts may lack the striking vistas and the rich forest landscapes of the Alps or Rockies. But the scenery, if less grand, is nice enough. So is the skiing itself. Chongli's drawback is that, as in much of China's arid north, there is an acute shortage of water to make snow. But in their pursuit of prestige, government planners see that as little hindrance. Developing winter sports, say officials, is China's "dream".

Freestyle medallists in 2022?

Until the 1990s, winter sports in and around Beijing were largely confined to a hardy few (mostly elderly men), swimming near-naked in pools cleared of snow and, above all, of middle-class spenders, made skiing all but unthinkable resorts abound on the hills near Beijing (the artificial snow is made with undr

Partners Support

The 5th Edition of World Snow Day was supported by eight exceptional partners: Audi, Sanetta, Eurosport, European Broadcasting Union, Infront Sports & Media, Best of the Alps, WFSGI and FESI. The potential of World Snow Day has been substantially enhanced by these partners' excellent participation and cooperation.

Audi

In May 2015 Audi and World Snow Day created 100 Toolkits to be distributed to Organisers. Toolkits were free of charge, delivered to the locations of Organisers and become the property of the Organisers for future use after the event. Organisers were thrilled with the materials that another 100 needed to be produced to satisfy demand.

Feedback from Event Organisers
and the public

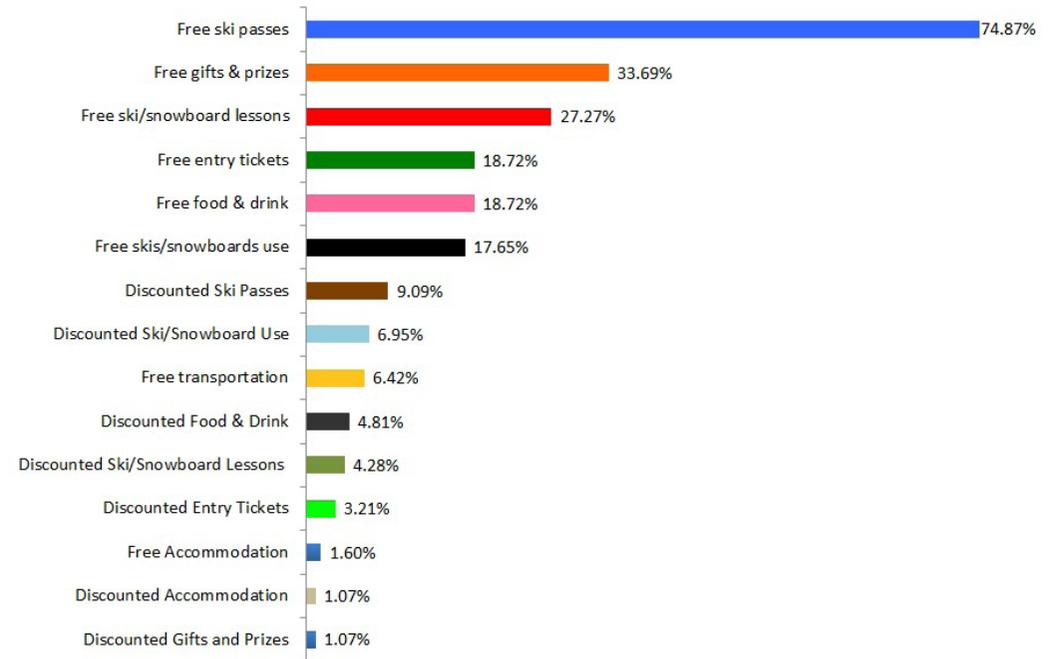

From the 18th January to the 20th February 2016, World Snow Day Organisers submitted event reports in the form of text, photos and videos through the World Snow Day Live Profile system. The individual 2016 World Snow Day event reports can be viewed here.

During this period, an online survey was conducted to collect feedback anonymously from the public who attended a World Snow Day events and also those who could not.

Feedback from Event Organisers

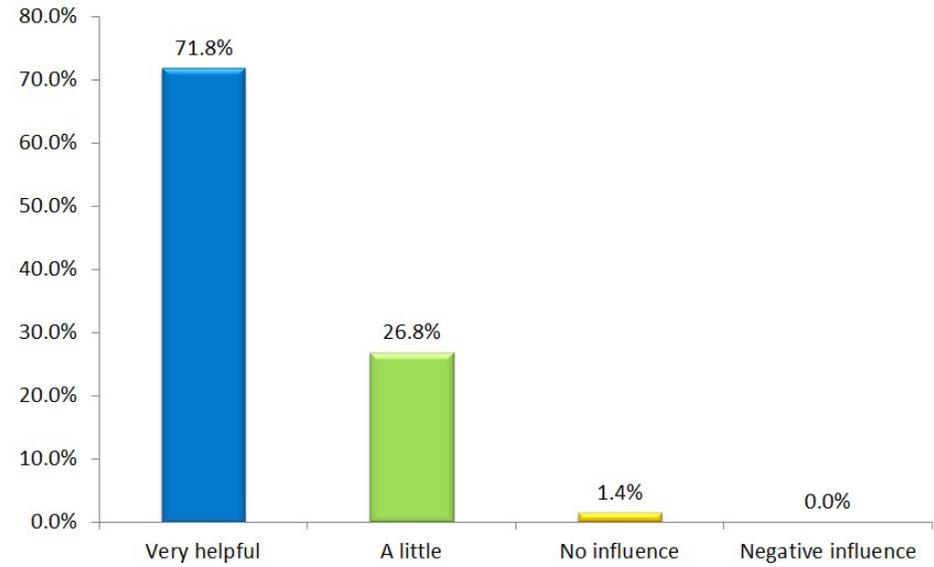

Types of World Snow Day events

From the data collected, the most popular promotion offered for was free ski and snowboard passes (74.87%). This is the third year in a row this promotion has been the most popular. It signifies its effectiveness in bringing persons to the snow.

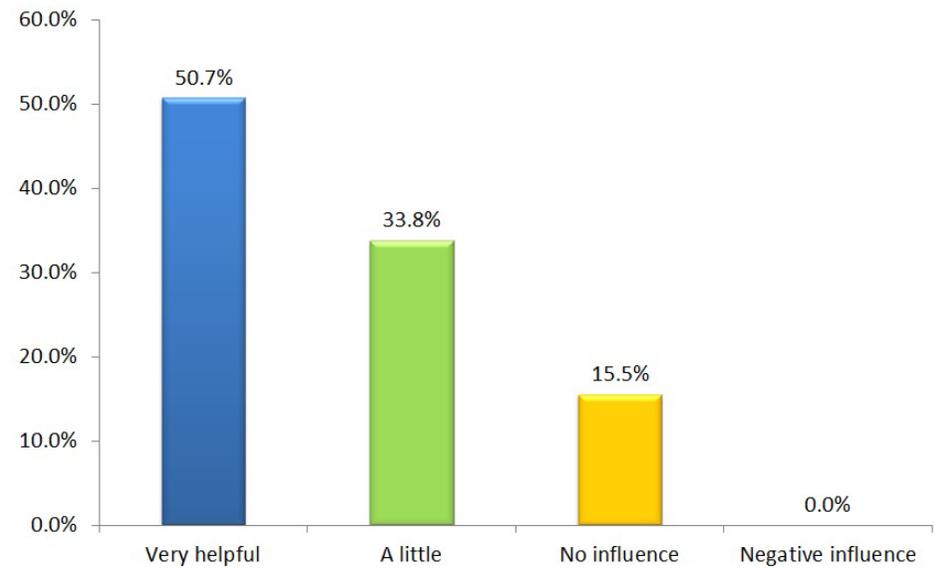

Do you feel the World Snow Day brand helped you attract participants?

71.8% of Organisers said the World Snow Day brand was 'Very helpful' in attracting participants.

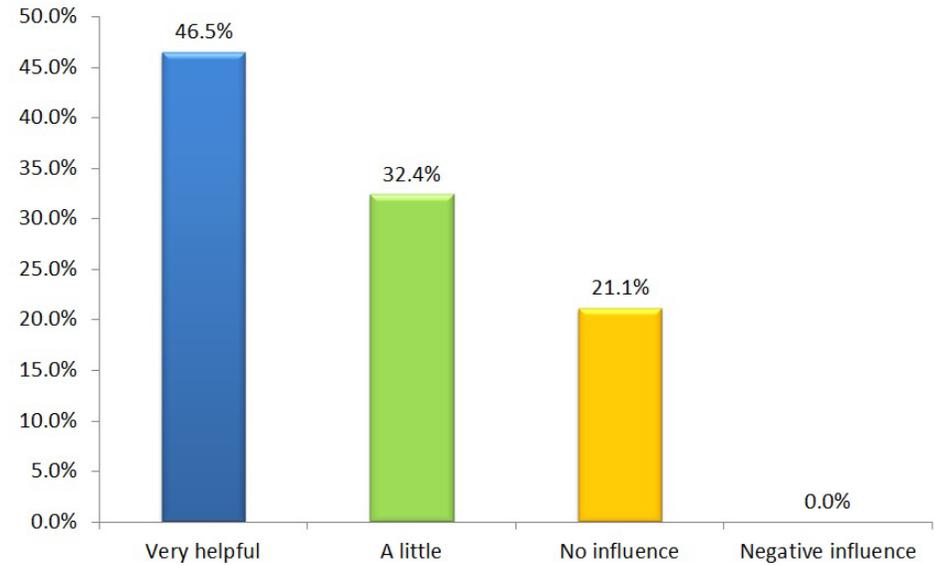

Do you feel the World Snow Day brand helped attract media attention?

89.5% of Organisers said the brand helped attract media attention. 50.7% of these said it was "Very helpful".

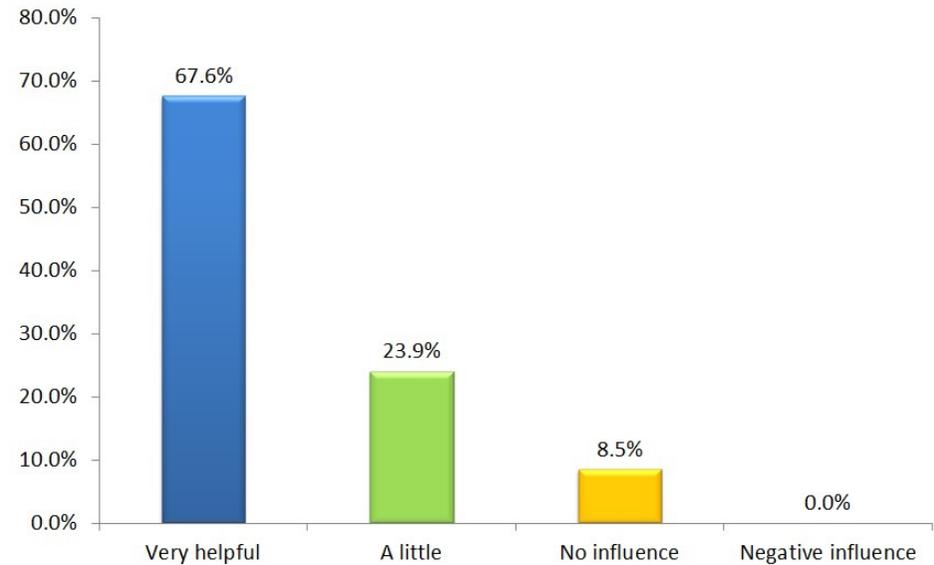

Do you feel the World Snow Day brand helped attract sponsors and partners?

46.5% of Organisers reported the World Snow Day brand to be very effective in attracting sponsors and partners. No Organisers reported a “Negative Influence” of World Snow Day on sponsors and partners.

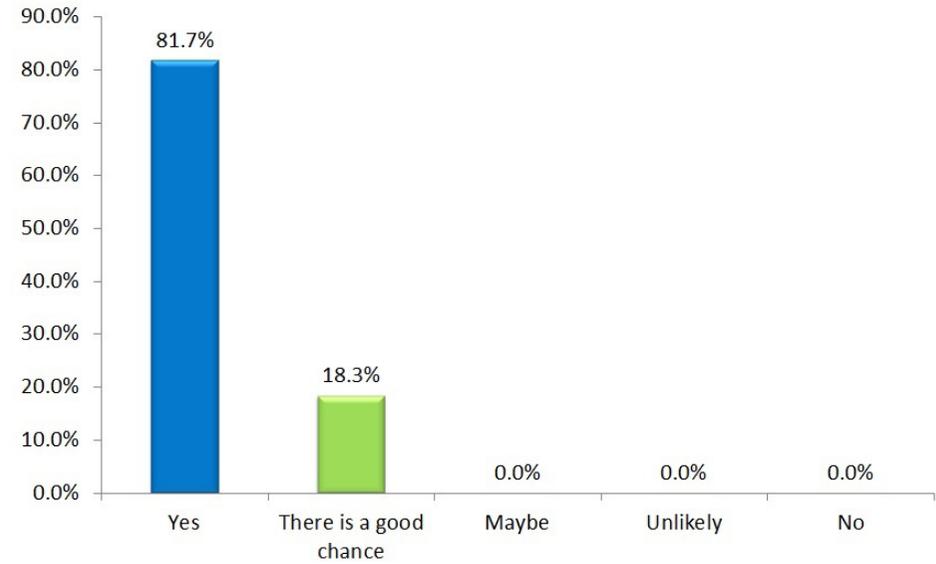

Do you feel the World Snow Day brand helped motivate your team?

67.6% of World Snow Day Organisers said the World Snow Day brand was very helpful in motivating their team. This is consistent with the previous year which stood at 67.1%.

Do you plan to Organise an event for the next edition of World Snow Day (15th January 2017)?

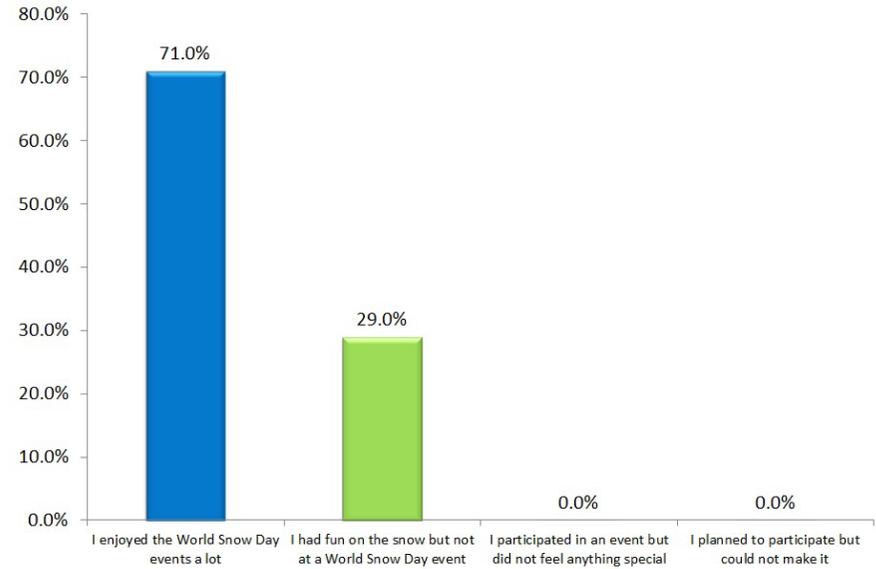

For the third year in a row over 80% of Organisers have provided a clear “Yes” to staging a World Snow Day event in 2017. This is a positive figure and becomes even more encouraging by the fact that no Organisers said “Maybe”, “Unlikely” or “No” to staging an event.

Feedback from World Snow Day Participants

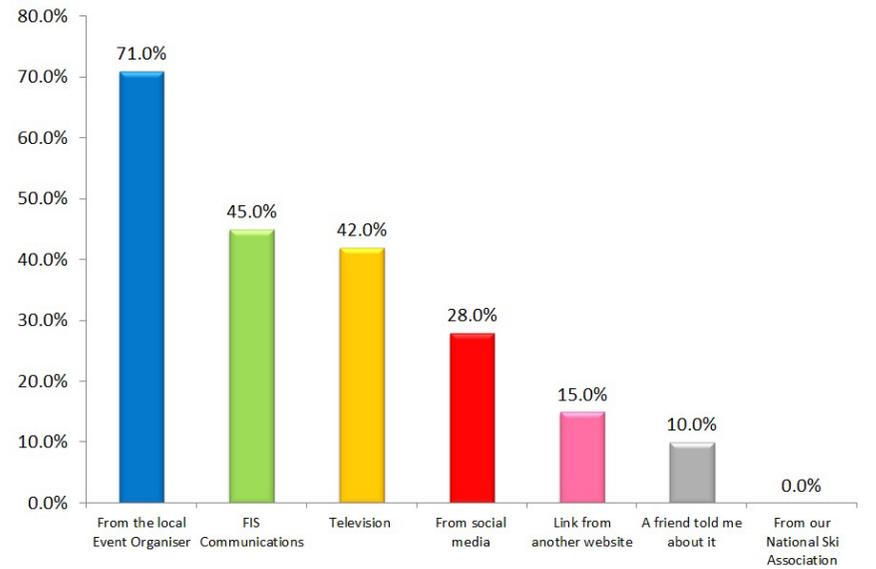

How much did you enjoy your World Snow Day event?

71% of respondents reported that they enjoyed World Snow Day events. A further 29% said they enjoyed the snow on that day but not at a World Snow Day event.

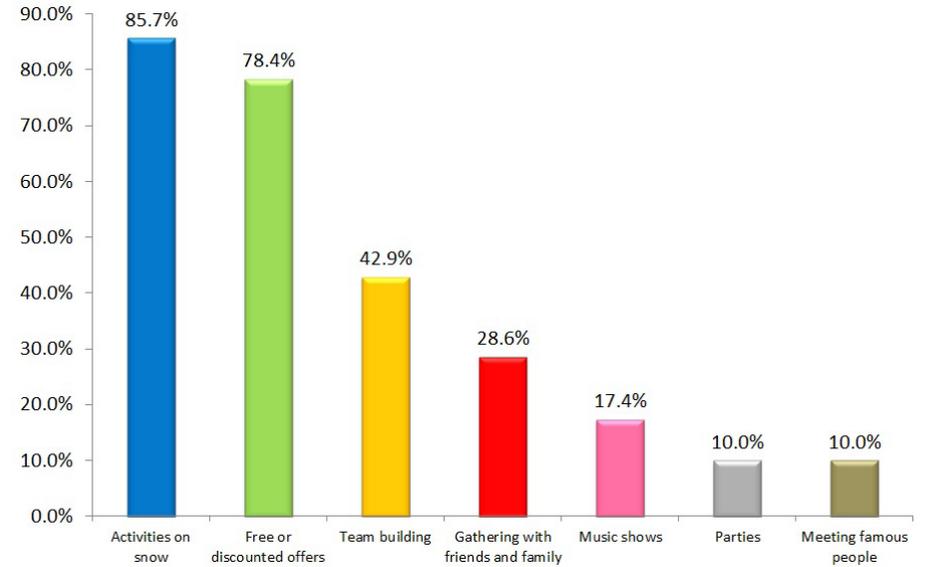

How did you hear about World Snow Day?

Information from the Event Organisers remains the main source people hear about World Snow Day. This proves very beneficial for Event Organisers and participants as the connection between destination and participant is immediate and direct. FIS Communications and Television rounded out the top three methods.

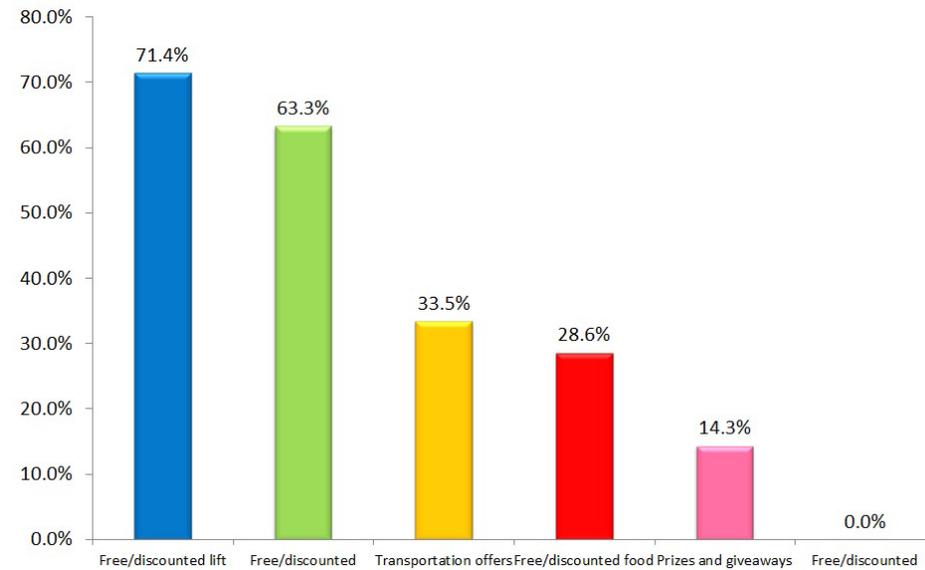

What interests you about World Snow Day?

'Activities on snow' remains a top of the interests about World Snow Day. This is a positive sign as World Snow Days primary aim is to introduce people to snow sports.

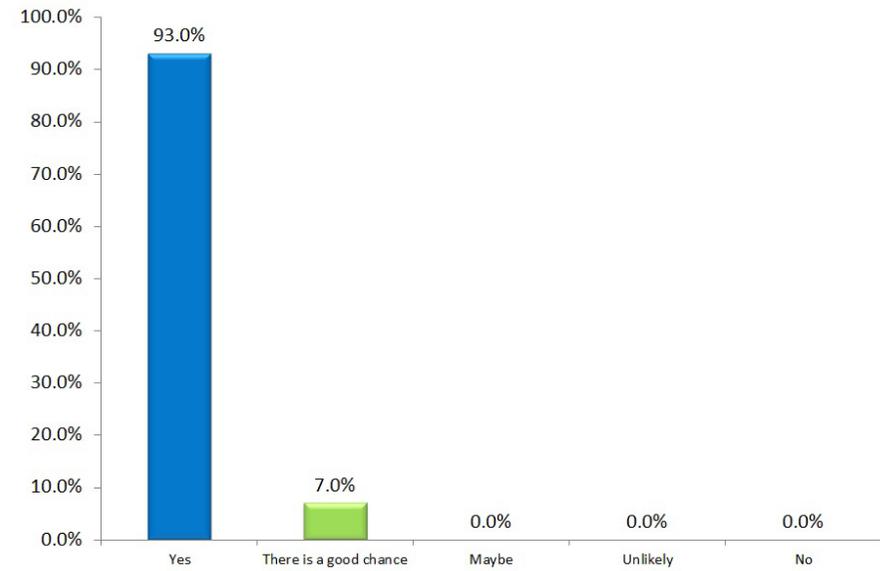

Which special offers attracted you to the events?

71.4% of participants stated promotions on lift passes is the primary attraction to events. This is followed by promotions on lessons with 63.3% and transportation offers at 33.5%.

Do you plan to participate in the next edition of World Snow Day (15th January 2017)?

A record 93% of respondents said they will participate in World Snow Day 2017. This is up 7% on the previous year.

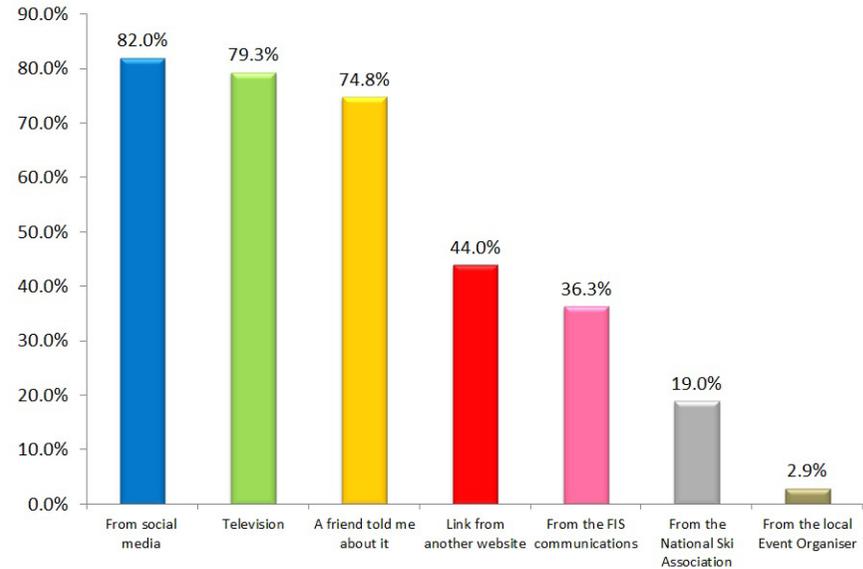

Feedback from Non-Participants

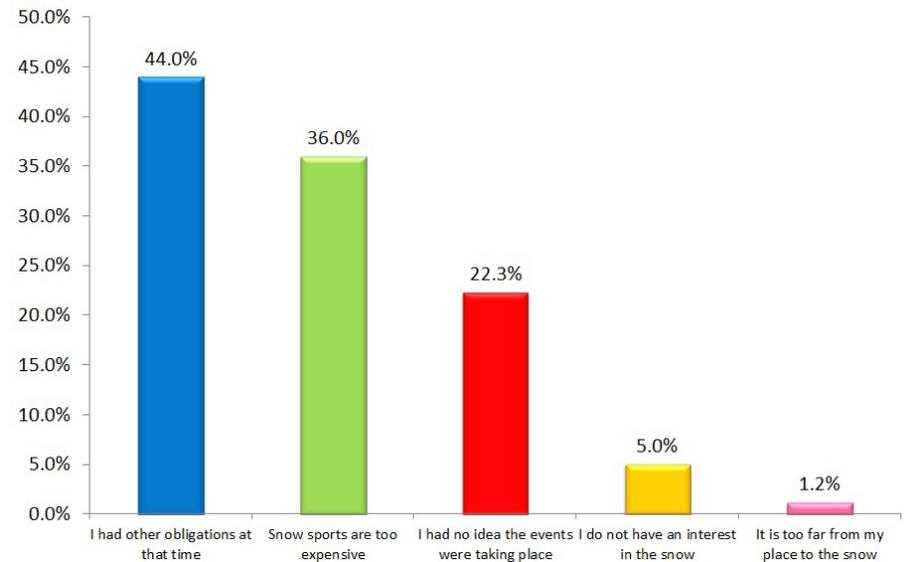

How did you hear about World Snow Day?

A considerable number of non-participants received information on World Snow Day through social media, television and from friends. Whilst receiving the information it is understood they did not act upon the information as it was received too late. This is supported by the following graph.

Why could you not participate in the 5th Edition of World Snow Day?

Once again the majority of non-participants, could not attend World Snow Day events due to other commitments. This supports the theory that communication of the event must be early.

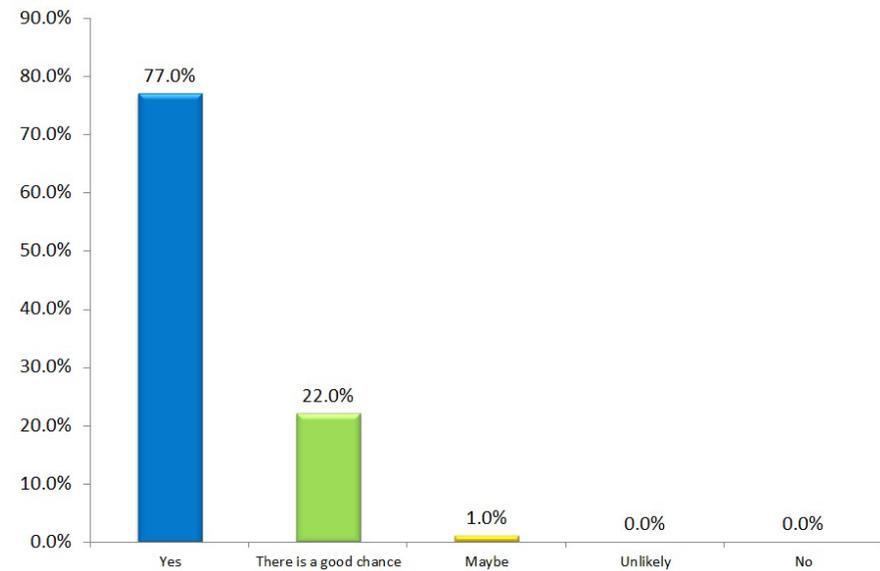

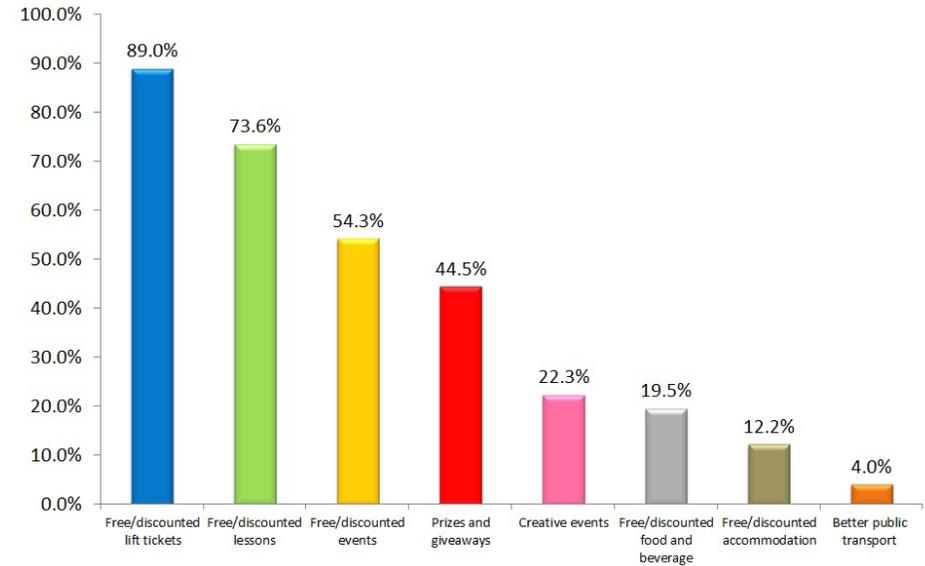

Which activities or promotions would help you to participate in snow sports more?

Like participants, non-participants stated that promotions on lift tickets and lessons motivate them more to participate. 54.3% of non-participants also stated that free/discounted events is a motivating factor.

Do you think you might participate in the next edition of World Snow Day (15th January 2017)?

In 2015, 73% of non-participants stated that they would participate in the World Snow Day. In 2016 this number increased to 77%.

Suggestions from the public

In addition to answering multiple choice questions those surveyed also had a chance to provide open feedback. Below are some of the responses from the over 2000 respondents

“ So happy this event exists ”

“ Thank you for looking after the next generation ”

“ Apen Bakke!! ”

“ More events, more kids,
more snow sports ”

“ BRING ON

Suggestions for 2016 Event Organisers

Based on information and feedback, FIS has compiled a list of suggestions for future World Snow Day Organisers.

Local Communication is key

For the 2017 edition of World Snow Day Organisers are encouraged to focus their efforts on local communication. Based on survey feedback both participants and non-participants stated most of their information on the events comes from the local Organisers. This presents an excellent opportunity for what FIS has ultimately set out to do and that is connect participants with the events.

To make local communication easier, Organisers have access to the World Snow Day Digital Toolkit. Here Organisers will find free templates which can be, downloaded, modified to include event information, produced and then distributed locally.

Hint: Click here to access the World Snow Day Toolkit for all your local communication needs.

Utilize social media

The majority of social media platforms are free to use and can have large reach. World Snow Day recommends a good starting point to be Facebook, Twitter and Youtube. It is important that if you use these platforms to make regular updates.

Hint: A Facebook event page for an Organisers World Snow Day is a great idea.

Maximize World Snow Day partnerships

From international communication to onsite materials the World Snow Day partners are all there to help with events. Of most use to event Organisers will be the Preferred Suppliers. These suppliers have been hand-picked by FIS for their top quality service, excellent products and most importantly good price. All agreements between the Organiser and suppliers will remain between the two parties. FIS will never intervene.

Hint: To see the World Snow Day partners click here. To contact the Preferred Suppliers click here.

Concluding Remarks

It is clear from the information there is a definite interest in World Snow Day and participation in snow sports. The trick to converting this interest into activation is communication.

With statistics such as 1.5 million people reached weekly on social media and dedicated media partners, FIS's efforts in communicating World Snow Day internationally are gaining a lot of traction. However as with all communication, international must be coupled with local communication. This was evident in the surveys conducted where both event participants and non-participants said they heard most about World Snow Day events from local Organisers .

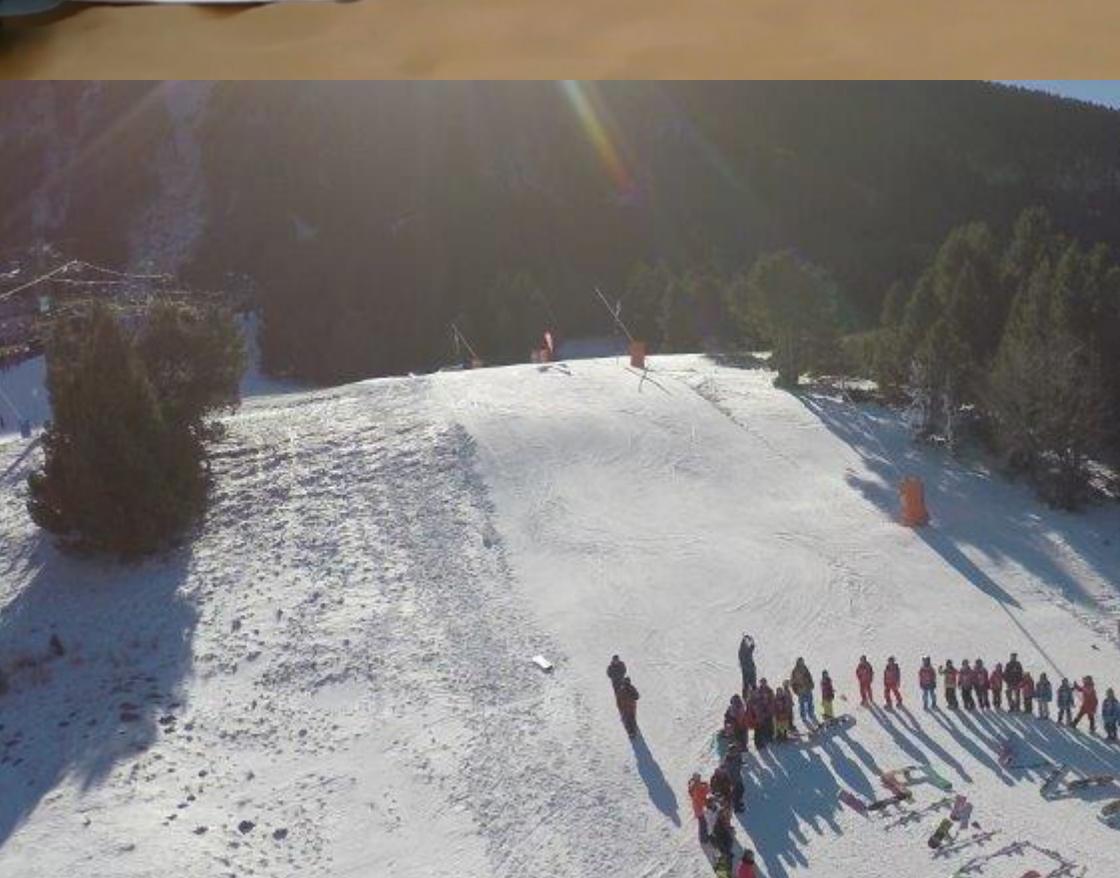

Looking ahead FIS will be making a big push with Organisers to communicate their events locally. FIS will help the local communication with the Digital Toolkit and suggestions of places where Organisers can distribute their communication material. This will be paired with an updated Event Ideas Guide and best practices from other Organisers.
